The tool that helps you to remove software that is not really necessary, commonly installed on all the versions of Windows operating system, when they have no legitimate purposes. These programs are installed just to collect additional personal information about the user. All of the information collected is stored in the memory and on the hard drive of your computer. The programs listed below have already been modified. The modification itself was done by a powerful Trojan “Wanna Cry” or “Wanna Decryptor”, and “Wanna Cry” is currently responsible for hundreds of computer infections. In addition, “Wanna Cry” is often used as a tool for hacking, stealing data from users, for example by ransomware, which asks the user to pay a certain amount of money to get back his files. Once this tool has been installed on the computer, no one except the hacker is aware that something has happened. This means that if the user is not very careful and does not regularly scan his computer, the hacker is able to steal personal information about the user. One of the most popular programs that will be tested by “scan and repair” is the “Uninstall Registry Keys”. You have probably seen a pop-up window on your screen asking you to uninstall the program. Just press the “OK” button and the program will be successfully removed from the registry. The “Uninstall Registry Keys” will let you know if a certain key has been created in the registry by another program. This key stores information on how the program is working. If the information stored in the key is missing, then the program is just a little program, which does not make the computer work properly. The use of “Wanna Cry” and “Uninstall Registry Keys” by itself can be sufficient to make the computer run badly. This is why the tool is able to modify the legitimate program. By installing “Wanna Cry” and “Uninstall Registry Keys” you will not get the alert for this program, which is not even installed on the computer. The program we have prepared is a “multi-tool”. The reason is that many popular programs that you use on your computer have similar names. If you try to search for “Wanna Decryptor” in a search engine, you will get thousands of results for this application. “G 82157476af
